Every so often, a low budget movie comes along that scores really big. In the 50's it was Ernest Borgnine in Marty. In the 60's it was ... well, forget it. But if you're really interested, you can look it up in some reputable magazine later on. And for the 70's, the smash movie is none other than the current hit

ROCKEY

And the winner — ROCKEY BABOONA!

And you all thought I was just another hack fighter.

You're a bum, Rocky!

Hey! Shut your face! My opponent here happens to be one of the top contenders from Australia!

Nice fight, Rocky. You get winner's share $465 ... less $10 for the locker, $3.80 for the towel, $15 for bench-sitting rights, $8 rental of the ring, $12 for the shower, $4 for the water, $10 for the assorted taxes and 20¢ for the soap. That makes us even.

Not a bad night, Rocky.

Not at all — and I figures I can start coming out ahead next fight if I just remembers to bring my own soap.

Hey guys — papa's home — and I won. A few more fights like tonight's and I can start buyin' us some luxuries — like furniture — a phone — and maybe even a little bigger bowl for youse.

Hungry? — Dere! Dat'll give me an excuse to go to the pet store and see my goll.

Hey! Hi, Aperian. You know dat last can of turtle food you sold me? It had more flies in it than moths! Now da turtles didn't mind, cause dey's too dumb to notice. But I minded. All dem flies got caught in my throat when I snacked on it.

— Well, look. I gotta go now. Nice talkin' to ya.

GRRR

GRRR

Hi Rocky. How'd ya do last night?

Pretty good! I wiped dat kangaroo all over da ring.

I wonder what he'll do with his share of the purse?

Probably pocket it.

Hey, dere's somethin' funny goin' on here. My Little Orphan Annie lock is missin'!

That's cause I gave your locker to Rico — you're a loser, Rocky.

I am not, Tricky.

You know where you placed your keys or your wallet?

Ahh... no.

See — you're a loser!

Hey! How ya doin'? Is Aperian here?

Yeah — she's cleanin' the birds. What da ya want with a homely girl anyway?

Who said I'm innerested in her. I come to buy some turtle food.

You just bought some this morning.

Well, my guys are big eaters.

Big eaters!?? — They must be the fattest turtles in Philadelphia.

Hi Aperian. Ah... how ya doin'? Good! Good. Ah, look... ah... people say you're ugly and not exactly pretty either — but I don't and... ah... well...

... how about lettin' me walk ya home?

Brawly, how come your sister Aperian is always ignorin' me?

Rocky, forget her. She's pushin' 33, has stringy hair, arms of different lengths and ugly feet! Why a rusted out Buick's got a better body!

Well, no one's perfect.

O.K., look. You wanna go out with her? Tomorrow's Thanksgiving — come on over.

You're a real pal, Brawly!

My pleasure. It'll be nice havin' a real turkey around the house for Thanksgiving.

I got some bad news Apullo about your January 1st Championship Match. The guy you were supposed to meet slipped on a skateboard and broke both his arms and he'll be in traction for 8 months.

So how does that affect the fight?

CRETIN
JUMPING
JOE
JOHNSON

Now I know why your last name is Cretin!

What are we gonna do? All the other good fighters are booked.

I'll need a novelty then—I got it! How about me givin' some green kid a chance.

You want to fight a Martian?

No, we pick an amateur—but make sure he's exactly what I'm lookin' for.

And what are you lookin' for?

Someone I can beat!

Brawly, you sure your sister knows I'm comin'?

722

Positivel She started barricading the door this morning.

APERIAN, COME ON OUT OF THAT BEDROOM! ROCKEY WANTS TO TAKE YOU OUT!—She's very shy. Talk to her.

Aperian, this is Rockey. How about you and I goin' out together—or maybe you and I goin' out separate—or you goin' out and me stayin' here—or...

o.k.

Hey, Brawly. What's your sister like to do?

Take her some place where she'll feel right at home.

Like where?

... the dog show!

Hey, my girlfriend here wants to go skatin'.

What's wrong with her?

She's a little shy.

A little!??

DINKE'S
RINK
FOR THANKSGIVING

Look, we're closed for Thanksgiving, but I'll let you have 10 minutes for 10 bucks.

Dat's a little too much.

O.K., then how 'bout 9 minutes for 11 bucks?

Dat's better.

And how do you expect to fight Apullo Cretin?

Probably wit my hands.

So, Rocky, you're fightin' Apullo Cretin.

Yeah. Good things are happenin' to all of us. I'm fightin'—your meat business is boomin' and your sister's gettin' less shy—

I got her down to wearin' just a paper towel now when we go out.

It's your love.

Hello, Rocky. I been studying your situation and—you need a manager! Why, what's a fighter without one?

$50,000 richer!

Funny.

Besides, why should I use you. You hate me—you took away my locker.

Surprise!

Now, to get you in shape. I got you a special sparring partner.

No fair! You're hittin' below his belt!

Tricky, how's this guy gonna help me?

You knock that big gorilla out and you can beat anyone!

I'm Linda Lewis, W.R.O.T. News with Rockey Baboona here in his friend's freezer. Tell me, Rockey, how'd you come up with this unique form of training?

Well, as a boy I liked mugging cows and I find these sides of beef stiff competition.

This beef is stiff competition?

Yeah, it's extremely tough meat!

Two weeks to go, Rocky—I want you to really get in shape now!

HES UP AGAIN!!

I said I'd help you any way I could, but this is ridiculous!

Rockey, what are you doing here?

I came to get a few things straightened out—but don't worry—I'm gonna be all set by next Thursday.

Fine, Rocky—except the fight's tomorrow.

100-2002
→

Like I said, I got a few minor things to straighten out.

And now for the main event—
Rockey Baboona vs. Apullo Cretin!

They're callin' you Rocky.
This is it—and I'm gonna be rootin' for you all the way.
But please . . . please don't get hurt. Did I put enough tape on you for protection?

Yeah, Aperian.
Dat's plenty.

Rockey, what are you doin' with that wash cloth and bar of soap?

WOP THAKKATA

THE KANGAROO!

I STILL SAY
HE LOOKS
LIKE PAUL
McARTNEY!

And now it's Round 15.
Both boxers look extremely tired.

Da ref said he wanted to see a clean fight.

And there's the bell. Rocky Baboona has gone the distance—but Apullo Cretin has won. What a fight! What a match!

APERIAN!

Before you go back to your dressing room and rest, one last question. Who's your next fight going to be with?

Well, I received a challenge in da mail dis morning from a group saying dat dey was very annoyed wit how I trained and wanted me to give em a chance to get even.

And who is that match to be with?

DEMI!

I'm comin' Rocky!

In the past 100 years we've seen the rise of AM radio as well as FM radio. And now there's a new form sweeping the country — the broom radio! No — only kidding! The real boom we're talking about will become self-evident as we take

CRACKED

Look At CB Radios

CB DICTIONARY

See how many CB terms you know

BEAR

Wrong! In CB terms, a "bear" is a policeman.

EARS

Wrong again! "Ears" are CB radios.

CLEAN

Close! "Clean" means that there are no bears around — and probably Goldilocks isn't near either.

A BEAR IN THE AIR

No, this is a policeman in a helicopter.

A BEAR TAKING PICTURES

This is really a policeman with a radar unit.

A BEAR IN A PLAIN WRAPPER

Close. This is a policeman in an unmarked car.

DOUBLE NICKLES

No, this stands for 55 — the legal speed limit that truckers ignore.

FEEDING THE BEARS

When one "feeds the bears" it means one has gotten a ticket (and it's not to the "bear's" ball, either.)

FULL DRESS BEAR

Nope! This is a police car with its lights on.

The big boom in CB's is attributed to truckers who use them to warn each other where police radar are located.

Fascinated by truckers and CB's, people by the thousands have been buying and using them.

To own and operate a CB, you need a license. Applications have tripled in the last year.

Amateurs, unaccustomed to CB talk are usually no help to anyone and only serve to tie-up the air waves.

There are even some amateurs that are totally lost.

It's fairly simple to spot which cars have CB's because the antennas are so large.

Because of this, the theft of CB's is high, so new accessories are constantly coming out.

And with the increase of CB's, Citizen Band Radio clubs are also popping up everywhere.

Since CB's have caught on mainly because of truckers, CRACKED thought you'd like to eavesdrop on the conversations within a typical convoy. Refer to your CB dictionary if necessary. (Those terms not found there have been footnoted.)

Besides truckers, CB's are used by husbands for communicating with their wives.

Small children also use CB's for passing on emergency warnings.

Besides the citizen band for truckers, there's also the police band.

And because anyone can buy one of these, there's another sector of the population that finds these radios very handy.

In addition to thieves, farmers currently use CB's to keep track of their milking cows.

And journalists use them to communicate with their editors.

In the future, we'll find CB's being used to pass on warnings to just about everyone.

Pepper—watch it! The man you're after is sneaking up behind you.

We'll see them out west...

Easy Pickins, this is Nasty Nostril. A coyote is coming your way. Would you pursue and capture please.

... and we'll notice surfers using them...

How are the waves by you, Surfer Bob?

Nothing big around here, Al.

as well as people in offices...

... and even insects...

And naturally, as more and more people listen to CB's, one thing is assured of happening.

Third floor! Come in third floor! This is the second floor! Mr. Abraham's on his way up to see where those sprockets are that he ordered 2 hours ago.

Ah, this is Dicky Dodder in the kitchen and I have a message for all of you feasting out there...

RAID!!!

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE'S ROMEO and
JULIET

ROMEO FIRST SEES JULIET AT A PARTY.

HE IS IMMEDIATELY ATTRACTED TO HER. RIGHT AWAY, THEY HIT IT OFF BIG

THAT NIGHT UNDER HER WINDOW, THEY BOTH CONFESS THEIR LOVE.

... AND SO THEY SECRETLY MARRY.

ALL'S WELL UNTIL ROMEO RUNS INTO JULIET'S COUSIN TYBALT.

ROMEO IS GOADED INTO A DUEL WITH TYBALT.

ROMEO KILLS TYBALT AND IS FORCED TO LEAVE TOWN.

JULIET'S PARENTS KNOW NOTHING OF HER MARRIAGE, AND MAKE PLANS FOR HER TO WED PARIS.

JULIET IS BESIDE HERSELF WITH GRIEF WHEN A FRIEND COMES ALONG WITH A SOLUTION.

JULIET AGREES AND THE VERY NEXT DAY SHE IS QUIETLY AND UNCEREMONIOUSLY BURIED.

ROMEO, HOWEVER, IS UNAWARE OF THE PLAN AS HE COMES ACROSS JULIET'S BODY.

IN A FIT OF DESPAIR, ROMEO TAKES HIS OWN LIFE WITH POISON.

WHEN JULIET AWAKENS AND SEES HER LOVER DEAD, SHE KILLS HERSELF, TOO.

ALTHOUGH THE STORY ENDS TRAGICALLY FOR THE LOVERS, IT ENDS ON A HAPPY NOTE FOR THE TWO OPPOSING FAMILIES FOR IT'S MADE THEM STOP FIGHTING.

As you know, in the good, old summertime, everybody wants to take a vacation. Some folks spend two weeks in the mountains, some go to the beaches, and others pack their bags for trips to Europe or South America. Well, this got us to thinking, and after much brain-picking, CRACKED came up with the idea about what might happen . . .

How we retired for 20 years with $30 a month

"1941 was an important year for Shirley and me. I had just lost my job and she became violently ill. We were both without funds and there was nothing to eat. The situation looked hopeless. That's when we decided to hold up a bank.

"This was the turning point in our lives. What happened was that we promptly got arrested and sent to Leavenworth—she with the women and me with the men. It turned out to be the luckiest thing that ever happened to us. Before that, we had no money and were starving. Now, we had 3 square meals a day—not to mention the security of having permanent work to do.

"What's more, we were making money—$1 a day for each, which came to $60 a month. And since we were both in for 20 years, this amounted to a tidy sum. Especially when we could put most of it aside as savings, since we didn't have any major expenses. All in all, it took the pressure off us considerably.

"We both realized that here was our chance to save a lot of money so that when we got out, we would be able to buy that farm in Connecticut. Well, we scrimped and we scraped. We went without candy, cigarettes and chewing gum. We did odd jobs for the other inmates for any money they would give us.

"Last month we got out. The both of us managed to save $7,964.82 and we were now on our way. Yes—robbing the bank was the smartest move we ever made. And investing our future with Leavenworth was the wisest decision of our lives."

SEND FOR FREE BOOKLET. This story is typical. Assuming you enter prison at an early age, you can plan on retiring in just 20 years with a sizeable nest egg. INSTEAD OF TRAILER CAMPS, TODAY'S HIPPIES WOULD LIVE IN VAN CAMPS

Wanna go listen to some heavy metal music?

What?

I said, YOU WANNA GO LISTEN TO SOME HEAVY METAL MUSIC?

Forget it, man. I can't hear you. I went deaf 12 years ago listening to some heavy metal music!

What's that pile of white, stringy stuff?

My husband Flash. He hasn't cut his hair in over 71 years!

Nice van.

Thanks. It's got a marble floor, a cement fountain, two tons of stereo equipment, a dozen ...

Oh no, I get great mileage—it's too heavy to move!

Man, all that stuff must give you terrible gas mileage.

In the 60's I used to do everything based on the power of love.

Now what keeps you going?

The power of Geritol!

Like kids, it's really great you could spin your wheels over here to park your peepers on your old lady and old man this afternoon.

low's that?

It is always a pleasure to partake in a congenial visit with ones' grandparents.

I think the kid's got a speech impediment, Juanita!

When people reach the ripe old age of 65, they look forward to one thing—reaching 66. But besides this, their sights also turn to retiring. Well, for America's younger people that will be turning grey many years from now, today's existing places are just not geared to their likes and interests. What should be done? Simple. Watch now as we present (ta da!)

TOMORROW'S RETIREMENT COMMUNITIES FOR THE NOW GENERATION

THIS RETIREMENT VILLAGE IS DEDICATED TO

DICK VAN DYKE

AND FOR TODAY'S HIP FOOTBALL PLAYERS, THEIR RETIREMENT HOME WOULD LOOK SOMETHING LIKE THIS . . .

AND THE RETIREMENT VILLAGE FOR EX-MOTORCYCLISTS WOULD LOOK SOMETHING LIKE THIS . . .

AND THEN THERE'D BE A HIP HOME FOR SURFERS

What are you gonna call that picture you're makin'?

"The Perfect Wave"!

Can't you people just DRINK from the water fountain?

Now this is what I call a dining room!

All those people looked drenched!

They are. To keep all the residents happy we run a simulated wave across the room every hour.

After being married to you for over 20 years, am I still your little beach bunny, Woody?

Oh no!

My ... my (sob) left arm is pale.

What's the matter?

You're more like my big grey hare!

SANDY SHORE HOME FOR THE AGED

BENCH PARTY BINGO STARRING FRANKIE NOTALENT

AND, OF COURSE, THERE'D HAVE TO BE A PLACE FOR OLD ROCK 'N ROLL STARS

I think I'm gonna leave this retirement village and go back to the stage.

But to be a great pop star today you have to shake, rattle and roll!

Well, I still do—only now my hands shake, my teeth rattle and my stomach rolls.

What's this lever here?

Watch it! That's the volume control for all those earphones!!!!

What's all that racket in there?

One of the Dreadful Noise wanted a lullaby to put him to sleep!

And what did you do in your band?

Huh?

WHAT DID YOU DO?

Oh, I was the drummer. Got to sit right in front of all the amplifiers!

Don't think of me as past my prime. Just think of me as an oldie, but goodie.

LISTENING ROOM!

ELTON JOHN

ROCK ON

THE LAST CUT

And last, but not least, there'd have to be a special place where old, hip, CRACKED employees could shuffle off to and yet not feel out of place.

In today's crime-infested world no one is safe from theft. Why, even the very magazine in your hands is trying to rob you of your insanity. To steel you against all this stealing we offer you . . .

CRACKED'S GUIDE TO BURGLARY PREVENTION

Locks cannot keep out a burglar. Locks are mere time-delaying devices that attempt to delay the burglar as long as possible.

Ordinary household lock delays burglar 8 seconds.

Vertical pin-tumbler lock delays burglar 2½ minutes.

Mirror and pocket comb could delay vain burglar a half hour.

Reading of list could delay status-seeking burglar 8½ minutes . . . or ½ hour if he is a slow reader.

New heights in burglar-proofing can be achieved by attaching a home to a huge balloon each night.

With above device it is suggested homeowners also install an anti-aircraft gun to thwart helicopter-owning burglars.

For safekeeping, move your trailer home into Lion Country Safari at night.

However, homeowners still run the risk of thieves running off with all of Lion Country Safari.

Best anti-burglary device is to scare off burglars with props that suggest he has broken into a home belonging to a mafiosa biggie.

A CRACKED LOOK AT SUMMER CAMPS

Yeah, Breakfast, lunch & dinner!

I guess when you kids go home next week, you'll have a lot of memories to share with your friends like the camp fire, sports, tent making, the scavenger hunt . . .

Putting oatmeal in Rudolph's pillow.

Shortsheeting Murphy's bed

Gluing Eisenbaum's shoes to the floor.

With memories like that, why do we bother with activities??

But Freddie, the woods are in that direction.

I know—but my bunk is over there.

Your bunk?

Yeah, I been going here for 6 years and each season they pull the same scavenger hunt with the same dumb items. So, to insure myself a victory...

... this year I brought everything with me from home.

And we also offer three meals a day and fine lodging

And how much is all of this going to cost?

$800.

Faster! Faster!

Larry, are you sure this stroke is right? We haven't moved an inch.

We haven't?

O.K., WHICH ONE OF YOU TURKEYS TIED MY CANOE TO THE DOCK!??

$800!! That's a hundred dollars a week!

Yes, but isn't it worth $800 to know that your child . . .

5 tennis courts . . .

... archery . . .

Why, it could be paradise right here on earth . . .

... if it weren't for all these kids!

Yeah!

... will be gone for the whole summer!

Where do we sign up?

Come on Lenny!

Let's go Lenny!

POUR IT ON.
THIS IS FOR THE

And the winner is Bunk 5!

Lenny, you've always been so fast in the sack race. What happened?

Beats me.

I've come to pick up my group, Artie.

Fine.

What'd they make in arts and crafts today?

The same thing they made in arts and crafts yesterday . . .

. . . a mess!

Yeah.

UNCLE

Well, Matty. Did those two campers of yours do as I suggested?

Yup, Mr. Owens. Instead of fighting out here with their fists . . .

. . . they're in there doing it with the camp's tennis rackets.

and who they can't!

I hate the last day of camp.

Why, George?

Because of its criminal aspect.

It reminds me so much of kidnapping.

BORETTA

My grandfather was found in front of a building with three bullets in his body. I say he was shot at and then PUSHED from the 90 story building. The cops, however, claim he accidentally stumbled off the building and LANDED on the three bullets.

Mr. Boretta, couldn't you at least take a quick perusal of the area?

I'm not allowed to do that, kid. But, tell you what I'll do. I'll take a quick look around if you like.

CHILDREN DO BRIGHTEN UP A HOME-- DID YOU EVER SEE ONE TURN OFF AN ELECTRIC LIGHT?

The cops' report sounds all right to me.

So, this is the place.

Look, Boretta! Grandfather's hat... and a gun... a pool of his blood... and a note in his handwriting saying he was murdered.

Insignificant. But take a look at this!

It's a woman's picture with a phone number on the back!

But what about grandfather?

What good is that?

With this information, I might just have a date for Saturday night.

He's not my type.

Any luck, Boretta?

The kid was right. I found his grandfather's hat, a gun, some blood and a note.

Kid, you're supposed to be asleep.

Who can sleep at 3 o'clock in the afternoon?

The note I found said that his grandfather was watching the Burpo Building. I'm gonna disguise myself and see what I can find out.

SAFARI SO GOOD

Turn on your TV and what do you see? Right—a picture. But WHAT is it a picture of, bright eyes? Well, if you're watching TV during the day it's either a game show or—right, a soap opera—one of those aimless, trouble-laden, multi-charactered, balls of confusion. What's this? You're not home during the day and have never seen one? Well, you're in luck (we think) because episode #138 is just about to begin from that hit soap opera

AS THE GENERAL, YOUNG, AND RESTLESS HOSPITAL TURNS

When we last left our story, Sarah Flamasham, manager of the Plenfield Bobsled Team, was at Plenfield General Hospital, awaiting the condition of her recently injured team.

Miss Flamasham, I'm afraid your recently injured team has 4 defective kidneys, 2 bad lungs, an ulcer, 7 broken legs, acne and 11 split ends.

Oh no!
Doctor
tell me ...

Yes ...

Is it serious?

Meanwhile, on the other side of town, vivacious career girl, Annie Dovroy, and her friend, Murene Gibbons, are lifting their spirits.

That same moment, at Plainfield's local newspaper—the "Hillsborough Courier Guardian Cowtown Gazette"—the ogre-like editor, Edwina Sleet, turns to her star reporter Bill Blair and asks...

Meanwhile, at the McAllister household, Ben McAllister, recovering from his near fatal skateboard accident (that has broken nearly 780 of his bones) is being nursed by his faithful, faith-healer wife, Falth.

Back at the "Hillsborough Courier Guardian Cowtown Gazette", Bill Blair is being comforted from Mrs. Sleet's berating by Janie Thompson, star girl reporter, who has a crush on him.

And as Janie contemplates that ...

Hey look! I found a 20 pound turkey in the freezer.

Murene.

What?

Now don't panic, but—I don't think these are the TV repairmen I called.

No.

Meanwhile ...

Pull yourself together Mrs. McAllister and tell us how it happened.

My faith healing was working. Bob had risen from the bed and began to walk when ...

When what?

When he walked straight out the bedroom window!

splash splash

Maybe first, I should have removed the bandages from his eyes!

Meanwhile, back at Plenfield General Hospital ...

Forever? But Miss Flamasham, I charge $50 an hour. Do you really think you could afford forever?!

Falling in love with me!

Yes, doctor. I long to be with you forever.

And as Sarah Flamasham confesses her love, still another person arrives in Plenfield—someone who will soon affect the lives of everyone already living there.

Why it's ...

... the man with no name!

What's he doing in Plenfield?

Maybe he heard about the free doilies they're giving away at the new Plenfield Bagel Shop ...

Or he really here for

... to be continued ...

Have you ever wondered why there are 360 degrees in a circle or why most birds don't answer to the name of Roberta? You have? Well, we're afraid you're gonna have to keep wondering because this next article has nothing to do with those questions. No, this next piece has to do with... Well, you'll see as

CRACKED interviews the ART KING

Then a piece of canvas is tested for authenticity.

And then the stretch boards that hold the canvas are cut in half to count the number of rings.

And after all those tests have been made?

The painting isn't usually worth a cent—I mean, look at this MESS!

Well then, is there any other way to do it?

Yes, we meticulously scan the entire painting with our eyes and then quickly turn to the signature in the corner and if someone recognizes the name, it is declared a famous painting.

Brilliant.

Of course, what's on top can sometimes be deceiving because often there's a more famous work underneath an already existing one.

THOSE MUST BE MICHELANGELO'S, TOMMY!

FEAR BY YAG

EVER HEAR OF AN S. SMYTHE?

Really. How do you go about uncovering those?

With the use of x-rays! Watch.

Well, there's nothing under this one.

And speaking of authenticity, we just got in a DaVinci that we believe may be priceless!

That's the "Mona Lisa!"

You've heard of it? Then it might be real. Problem is the "Da" in his name is different from that of other signatures.

That's not the only problem, Mr. Palette...

What is the greatest expense of a big museum like this?

Probably hooks.

But art isn't only paintings, Nanny. Look at this magnificent vase!

See how rare it is.

And now, look at this ancient vase from the Blumenthal Collection. Notice the...

It's chipped!

Of course it's chipped. It's a Chippendale—it dates back to 10 B.C.!

I thought Chippendale's weren't made until the 1700's.

A WOMAN'S PLACE IS IN THE HOME™ AND SHE SHOULD RETURN THERE DIRECTLY AFTER WORK!

Mr. Palette, look at this old pail. Whose collection is this from?

POTS AND PANS FROM YUCATAN

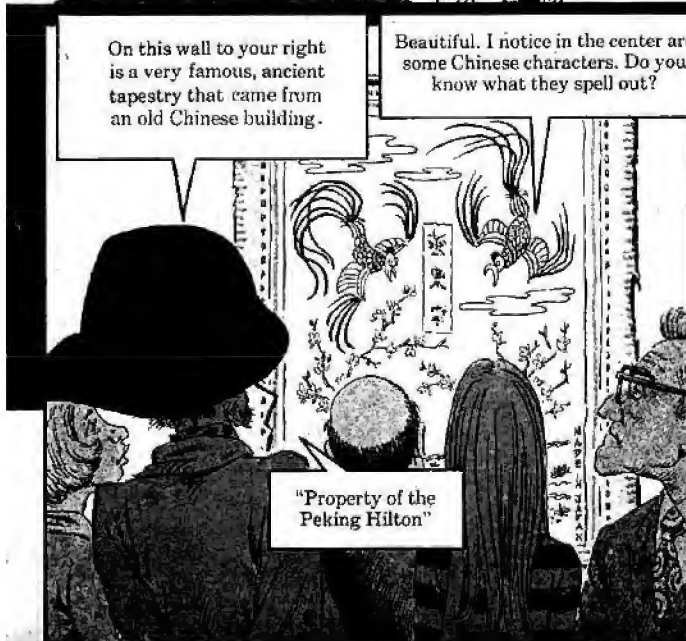

The janitor's. It's his wash bucket.

On this wall to your right is a very famous, ancient tapestry that came from an old Chinese building.

Beautiful. I notice in the center are some Chinese characters. Do you know what they spell out?

Does your museum have any early works by the masters?

Do we have any works by the MASTERS???

"Property of the Peking Hilton"

I asked you first.

This is "Cow In A Field" by Picasso. He did it in first grade in his art class, at the age of 6. I believe he received a "C"!

That IS an early work.

Oh yes, but we found an even earlier one made when he was only 2 months old. I'd show it to you but there's a slight film that has to be removed before we can display it.

Dirty oil build-up?

No, baby food!

We've been talking about your fabulous collection, but I understand that right now your museum is in the midst of a great crisis.

Yes, Nanny. Because of the high operating costs, we're really hurting for money and so we've been trying new devices to help raise funds. For example, this one here.

It looks like a parking meter.

It is. After two minutes of viewing...

... a curtain comes down and you have to insert another dime!

I understand that where an art object is placed in a museum, reveals how the gallery feels about it.

That's quite true. Like this work here, we have great respect for. While this one over here...

Now in here is our modern art collection.

Do you think today's art is as inventive as days gone by?

Most certainly—only they require a greater imagination on the part of the viewer. For example, this painting here.
